i'm too young for this!

Got cancer? Under 40? Sucks, huh? Well, it's time to get busy living with an official Stupid Cancer Meetup, made possible by your friends over at Stupid Cancer, a non-profit organization that empowers young adults affected by cancer through innovative and award-winning programs and services.

Come out for a different kind of social mixer with no pressure, no judgments, no stigma and—best of all—no sitting around a circle sharing your feelings. Chill out, make friends and hang with folks who don't care if you have one boob, one ball, port scars or a serious lack of eyebrows.

It's time to get busy living - and we'll see you there! To learn more about Stupid Cancer, visit us at stupidcancer.org.
